Junior Summer Camp

for teenagers aged 12 to 17

The ISI “English in Action” summer camp is a fun and exciting way for teenagers to learn English. Located in the city centre, just five minutes from O’Connell Street, the programme includes 20 hours tuition per week and over 25 hours of stimulating social & cultural activities. Classes combine General English with task-based lessons where we put English into action through fun activities aimed at building confidence when using English in everyday situations. Our friendly host families live 35 minutes from the city centre, with direct access by public transport. The activity programme combines sporting, cultural and fun activities designed to keep the students engaged and inspired. Our programme includes activities every afternoon, two evenings per week and one full day bus tour at the weekend, so students will experience a fun packed programme they will remember.

School facilities

The camp takes place in Belvedere College, a prestigious and historic private high school in Dublin's city centre. The school has been a centre of excellence for many years, in fact James Joyce was a student there in 1894. The school boasts excellent facilities which we are delighted to offer to our students including:

- bright classrooms with digital whiteboards
- canteen and courtyard for relaxing breaks
- outdoor secure courtyard
- indoor heated swimming pool
- all weather outdoor sports pitch
- Indoor gym hall

Lesson themes

The programme includes 20 hours tuition per week which is evenly split between General English and task based lessons which are divided into themes. Our highly qualified and experienced teachers have been specially selected for their dynamic and energetic teaching approach, which encourages maximum student participation. Four examples of these themes are:

Paparazzi

Students research, create and publish the weekly ISI gazette notice board. In teams the ISI Paparazzi decide on article themes, and cover topics and stories included on the social programme and their experiences at school.

Talent

Students must prepare a performance for the weekly talent show. This can be a song, a play, a dance or a comedy act and although structured in format, students are encouraged to be as creative as possible.

TV Club

The ISI TV team have to write, produce, edit and direct their own TV show inspired by activities in school and events taking place around them.

Craic

Craic is an Irish word which translates as fun. Students learn about contemporary and traditional Irish culture, from Yeats to U2, and experience Irish culture in a fun and exciting way.

Accommodation in Host Families

We use a select group of friendly host families who are all very experienced in welcoming international students into their home. These families all live within the same area which means students of all nationalities can take public transport together, and have company during their free time.

- 35 minute commute to the city centre & school
- Shared rooms, with students of same age
- Full board; breakfast, packed lunch and hot dinner
